What is SPOOF?

- Game played by friends using coins or bottle caps to make decisions. By the end, we'll have 1 loser and the rest are winners.

- In my experience, it's generally used to decide who needs to buy the next round of drinks at the pub

Now let's go through an example of how the game would run in real life

Now, we're going to simulate that game with my program